Eliminating poverty. Fostering a healthy planet. Achieving equality for all people, from all walks of life. These are just some of the significant challenges we must face if our world is going to become as sustainable, inclusive and prosperous as it needs to be for the future. And it’s going to take the combined efforts of the best minds from around the globe to overcome them.
Some presents are big, some presents are small, but what is a present with something for all?

Behold- the world’s greatest gift guide! Nestled among the break dancing tigers and show stopping ponies you’ll discover the most precious gifts in the whole world. Gifts so amazing they can end hunger, stop war and protect our earth – but just how do you wrap a gift like that?

How do you wrap that? takes young minds on a journey to discover the 17 most precious gifts in the world - the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. Full of whimsical rhymes and engaging illustrations, How do you wrap that? is the perfect way for you to empower the young change-makers in your life and help them to become the generation who transform our world.
The Voluntary National Review

Australia's first Voluntary National Review (VNR) on implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals was launched by The Hon Julie Bishop MP, Minister for Foreign Affairs, on 15 June 2018 and delivered to the United Nations High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development on 17 July 2018. For more information and for ongoing updates on how Australians are contributing to the SDGs visit www.sdgs.org.au

Libraries Change Lives campaign ideal opportunity to map our stories to the SDGs

Align Library reports, presentations and brand them with SDGs
Why this goal

- Literacy and early literacy are core to quality education
- There are library programs and programs for the delivery of books to children through other organisations, which libraries can support
- Gender equality in education would make a significant difference, including education for work skills
- Open education has the potential to transform traditional education practice – UNESCO OER action plan aligns with this

Storytelling

- National Simultaneous Storytime across Australia and NZ has scaled up from local to national and international, developing and adapting
- Fits with boys and girls access to quality early childhood and participation in learning
- Cross-generational, multi-cultural, relies on partnerships (organisations and readers)
- Engagement through social media and attendance rates creates quantitative evidence
